The Newsletter of the Muskoka
Lakes Museum

Spring 2017 (2nd edition)

New for 2017

To celebrate Canada's 150th birthday the museum is presenting a special exhibit – A Portrait Gallery – to recognize some of Muskoka Lakes' personalities of the past.

Plans are also underway to expand the First Nations display, and add more enhancements to our new Cottage Corner. Other interpretive improvements are being worked on over the winter.

Our 2017 lecture line-up

July 5 – “Pioneer Muskoka – tales of Courage, Grit and Community”, local author Ray Love shares from his latest book.

July 12 – “The Teaching Rock” film by award-winning filmmaker Lloyd Walton.

July 19 – ‘Photographing boats and outdoors’, local photographer Tim Duvernet will discuss special issues with photographing boats, & outdoor photography.

July 26 – a lecturer from the list below – TBA

August 2 – ‘Lake Joseph history” local author Bill Gray will discuss his book.

August 9 – a lecturer from the list below – TBA

August 16 – Andrew Wagner-Chazalon, on a subject to be decided

August 23 – ‘An American in Muskoka’ by filmmaker Jerry Hamlin, who will discuss and show his film.

August 30 – a lecturer from the list below – TBA

Sean George – (date to be decided) – on the museum’s collection of Canadian glass.

Andrew Hind – (date to be decided) – will discuss Muskoka’s ghost towns

Hap Wilson – (date to be decided) — details to come.

Lectures take place every Wednesday evening at 7 pm at the Museum, in July and August, unless noted otherwise. Cost is $5 or $3 for members.
